

The 7th annual Let's Beat Bowel Cancer Golf Classic

Tuesday 25th October Kingston Heath Golf Club - Australia's #1 Golf Course

On Tuesday 25 October 2011, a full field of corporate sponsors and celebrities will attend the annual Let's Beat Bowel Cancer Golf Classic at Kingston Heath Golf Club.

Among the players are some famous faces including tennis champions and our very own Ambassadors, John Fitzgerald and Todd Woodbridge, as well as Ambassador, Geoff 'Coxy' Cox of Coxy's Big Break, will hit the course – helping to raise funds and awareness about Australia's most prevalent internal cancer.

According to Let's Beat Bowel Cancer Patron, Emeritus Professor Adrian Polglase, these golf events have raised over $650,000 for cancer research, education and prevention programs; and well on the way to achieving the '$1 million in 10 years' fundraising target.

"The Golf Classic offers corporate groups a unique opportunity to play at a world-class golf course and support Let's Beat Bowel Cancer in its mission to save lives," said Professor Polglase.

The day includes 'Beat the Pro' and 'Hole in One' competitions as well as an on-course BBQ and refreshments to keep players entertained. The event concludes with dinner, a fundraising auction and prize presentations. Funds raised from the Golf Classic will support bowel cancer research as well as conducting community awareness campaigns.

Let's Beat Bowel Cancer appreciates the support of its valued sponsors, suppliers and players for their fantastic support of this event.

Let's Beat Bowel Cancer is an initiative of Cabrini Health.
